Ali Eyadeh is an associate professor of communication engineering at Yarmouk University in Jordan. He received his PhD in communication engineering from university of Wales, UK in 1997. He taught in different universities in Jordan, UAE and Saudi Arabia. His research interests are in the areas of communication systems and computer networks.

Mohammed Al-Nairat earned his master's degree in communication engineering from Yarmouk university in 2016. Now he is a lecturer at Zarqa University, Jordan.